

less consolidation, more independent and local ownership of media outlets, less cross-ownership of media outlets. for democracy to work, we need the unimpeded free flow of information from many different, independently owned and operated, media sources. thank you.